

Service, maintenance & training

As the world's leading design and manufacturing company of nautical controls and -systems, Kwant Controls delivers high-quality solutions. The Kwant Controls team of maritime experienced professionals daily seeks and ensures technological innovation in the field of control units, systems and nautical navigation. We take pride in exceeding your expectations. Each control unit is tailored and configured to your specification where the reliability and trustworthiness of our products are our main targets.

Ready to support your business; our highly experienced service-team is at your service to assist you around the globe, 24/7! Throughout the vessels' lifetime, even decades after original commissioning, Kwant Controls has documented your equipment. With this information we can offer various services:

- Customer support by phone or email
- On board & remote service
- Corrective & preventive maintenance
- Fast response repair & overhaul
- Spare parts supply and stock keeping
- In-house testing and system simulation
- Crew training and system familiarization
- Recertification of equipment's conformity

Type approved by

